They Burned the Vampire.

To most people the word "vampire"
only brings up visions of noxious South American swamps, whose banks teem with venomous creatures, legless and otherwise, nightly visited by myriads of large, leathery winged bats, which are reputed to have an insatiable taste for human blood. To the ancients it meant something far different. There was a time when all Europe believed the vampire
to be a blood sucking ghost of a defunct human being. The most celebrated of these blood chilling vampire stories is that of Arnold Paul. During life he had resided near Madnaga, Hungary.
Within 30 days after his burial four persons near the place of interment had died, each with the marks of a vampire (small bluish incisions in the throat).
Another person had been awakened in the night and recognizing Paul's ghost
in the room cried "Avant, vampire!
in Jesus' name!" whereupon the apparition
instantly vanished.When this story was told, the town prefects held a meeting and determined to open Paul's grave. This was accordingly done. There was blood on the lips of the corpse, also upon his hands. The embalmer of Louis XV, who was present at the disinterment, declared the proof positive, and Arnold Paul's remains were heaved to the surface, burned to ashes, and the ashes scattered to the four winds. It is needless to add that Paul's vampire ceased to vex the good people of Madnaga.—St. Louis Republic.

The Giggling Habit.

A serious aspect of the giggling habit is that it is so nearly incorrigible. Mannerisms of all kinds strike their roots deeply, but "he! he!" and "ha! ha!" become part and parcel of the offenders against reason and taste. That which makes the listener nervous to irritability, fretting the amiable into a desire to smother the meaningless cackle in the throat that gives it birth if he cannot escape beyond hearing of it, is practiced involuntarily by the habitual giggler.
Like the famous button on the learned advocate's coat with which he fumbled incessantly while pleading, the giggle would, if suddenly taken away, deprive its slave of the power of speech. To command gravely temperate articulation would be to strike dumb.The origin of the obnoxious trick is of course in youth and inexperience, and almost always in native diffidence or temporary embarrassment. When the girl has no fitting words at call, she giggles. When the lad is oppressed by a weight of bashfulness and would swagger it off, he guffaws. In the tyro's opinion a laugh outdoes charity as a cloak for every defect and extricates him from the most trying position. Affectionation is an active ally in the evil
work, and the ambition to be agreeable brings up the rear guard.—Marion Harland in Harper's Bazar.

Mr. Lowell's Question.

A few years before the death of James Russell Lowell he wrote a poem which he was to read upon a certain public occasion. Naturally the newspapers desired to secure the copy. Mr. H., who was then and is yet engaged upon a Boston daily newspaper, was detailed by his managing editor to call upon Mr. Lowell and secure, if possible, the much desired poem. After a great deal of im-portunity from the newspaper man Mr.
Lowell said:"Let me ask you a question frankly,
man to man, and if then you decide that I ought to give you the poem I promise you I will. If you knew I needed $300, you would not ask me to give it to you.
I know that perfectly well. But that is just what you are asking me. I have a market for my poem in The Atlantic Monthly provided they have the opportunity of first publishing it. If it is first printed in the daily newspapers of this country, of course it is no use for a magazine. Now, then, I tell you frankly, I do need the $300, and I ask you the question, Shall I give you the poem on your request, or shall I keep it for the magazine?"The newspaper man decided promptly, and the poet was not deprived of his $300.—Boston Herald.

Where the Telegraph Is Least Used.

The four countries in the world which possess the smallest telegraph facilities are Peru, Paraguay, Uruguay and Persia. In the first named there are only 36 telegraph offices in the whole country and but 1,600 miles of wire. In the territory of Paraguay there are only 510 miles of wire in operation, and the entire telegraphic service of that country requires the services of but 23 persons.
One line of 360 miles, owned and operated by the government, runs from Asuncion to Paso de Patria, the limit of Paraguayan territory, and the other 150 miles by the railroad from Asuncion to Pirapo.Owing to high water and forest fires
in that country the line is often interrupted for a days at a time. At Paso de Patria the line breaks, there being no cable over the Alto Parana river, which is three miles wide. Communication is therefore by canoe, which takes messages over in the morning to the Argentine side and returns to the Paraguayan side at night. An important telegram is often delayed 10 or 15 hours.—Hartford Courant.

She Liked the Old Kind Best.

It was down in a Chautauqua village that a gay young soldier had his sweetheart. Such a beauty she was too!
It happened once that he sent her down from Buffalo a pot of cold cream to keep her cheeks as fresh as the budding rose.
When he came down to visit her again,
he asked how she liked his little gift.
"The taste was very nice," she said,
with rather a sickly smile, "but I think I like the other kind of cream best."—

THE N-C-O. RAILWAY.

A Pleasant Trip From Reno to Amedee.—Hospitable Railroad Managers.—Raising the Stars and Stripes at the Lake City.—A Country With a Future.

Yesterday morning about 150 ladies and gentlemen, invited guests of the N-C-O. railway management, boarded the passenger coaches of that road for a trip to Amedee, the embryo metropolis of Southern Honey Lake Valley. When Master of Transportation J. M. Fulton had his guests comfortably seated, the signal was given the engineer and the train sped out of the depot and away to the northward, buzzing over ridges and humming through vales at a speed of about thirty miles an hour.

ALONG THE LINE.

The road ascends the divide between the Truckee and Lemmons' valley by an easy grade, curving around hills and basins something like a number of connected s's, requiring about nine miles of road to make three miles as the crow flies. Once the summit is reached, however, the road is generally straight with no deep cuts or high fills and comparatively few culverts. For several miles north from town the plateaus and hillsides are yellow with sunflowers now in full bloom, indicating that alfalfa, if not grain, could be produced on those lands without irrigation.

About twenty miles north of Reno the road crosses the state line into California, thence down Long Valley, along the stream of that name, by Purdy's, Chat, Taylor's Camp and Luegan to Amedee, which is 80 miles by rail from Reno.

Long Valley is bounded on the west by the pine-clad Sierra Nevada and on the east by mountain ranges partially covered with junipers. Near Chat is the celebrated Beckwith Pass, through which a railroad has been built, which crosses Sierra Nevada on the west and runs down the Middle Fork of the Feather river to Mohawk Valley, distant about thirty miles from Chat. This road is unused, and the ties are rotting and the rails rusting.

AT AMEDEE.

The trip to Amedee was very enjoyable. The weather was delightful and refreshments were served on the cars by obliging waiters. When the train stopped at the station the entire population was out in holiday attire to greet the visitors.

The town has grown rapidly in the last two years and has the appearance of a thriving and prosperous village. There is a large hotel, furnished with all the modern conveniences, several stores and saloons, a newspaper office, the Amedee Geyser, a school house, large freight houses and several dwelling houses. The population numbers about 250 persons, who are engaged in various occupations. It is situated about a mile from the southeast shore of Honey Lake, a body of water overlying an area of over 100,000 acres. Here are the celebrated geysers. The water heated in nature's caldron reaches the boiling point, which at the altitude of Amedee—about 4,000 feet above sea level—is 204 degrees. Near one of these hot springs, crouched by the sedimentary rocks formed by the waters, the Pierson family was massacred by the Indians in 1868.

RAISING THE STARS AND STRIPES. In the public square a flagstaff seventy-five high had been raised. On this square the inhabitants of the village and the visitors assembled, the occasion being the unfurling of an American flag 12 by 20 feet.

This flag is a present from Amedee D. Moran, whose name was given to the town. Mr. John M. Fulton in well chosen words made the presentation speech, and at the close presented the flag to the people of the town of Amedee for and in the name of Mr. Moran.

Mr. E. R. Dodge received the flag on behalf of the people of Amedee, and responded in a very fine and well delivered effort. The speaker gave a short history of how the stars and stripes became the national emblem, and spoke of the historic name of Amedee as having been borne by many of the Dukes of Savoy in the thirteenth and fourteenth centuries and later. When William and Mary reigned in England Amedee was reigning Duke of Savoy. After the defeat of the Irish at the Boyne, because of a coward king and incompetent officers, the greater part of the Irish army took service under Amedee, Duke of Savoy, and proved the most brave and gallant soldiers in Europe.

Mr. Moran, said the speaker, is worthy to bear the historic name of "Amedee" as shown by his intellectual ability as a financier on Wall street, New York, where the ability and bravery of a first-class commander is ever required in the financial battles of America's money kings.

Mr. Dodge closed by presenting the opportunities that Honey Lake valley offers to the home maker, and the assured future prosperity of the valley.

Mr. J. L. Wines, in response to a call, made remarks appropriate to the occasion, as did also General C. C. Powning, Mr. R. L. Fulton, Dr. W. H. Patterson and Rev. Mr. Magill, which want of space prevents us from giving even a brief synopsis. All, however, were well chosen and roundly applauded.

HOSPITALLY TREATED.

At the close of the ceremonies the visitors were invited to the hotel in the dining room of which an appetizing lunch was served to which the guests did full justice. The freedom of the town was given them and they availed themselves of the generous offer. They visited the various places of interest, of which the geysers are not the least, and amused themselves in various ways. The Journal reporter is indebted to

THE RETURN TRIP.

When the train drew up at the depot headed south the visitors again took seats in the cars, the bell rang and while the Nevadans were giving three cheers for Amedee and its kind people, the train pulled out and sped south on its way to Reno. Refreshments were again served on the cars which stopped on the way to give the guests opportunity to see a steam shovel dig into a bank of earth and load cars at the rate of a ton a minute. The home trip was made without incident and when the cars stopped an impromptu meeting was held on the platform of which Rev. Mr. Magill was chosen chairman and Professor Bray secretary and the following unanimously adopted.

RESOLUTIONS.

WHEREAS, The N-C-O. railway, through its officers, Mr. E. Gest, general manager; Mr. J. M. Fulton, master of transportation, and others have royally entertained a large party of citizens of Reno to-day, taking them over the road to Amedee, in the beautiful Honey Lake Valley, to participate in the ceremonies of raising a new American flag in Amedee; and

WHEREAS, We, the said citizens, the invited guests of the railway, have been most generously and hospitably treated, our every want being studiously attended to while in Amedee and while en route thereto and therefrom; therefore,

Resolved, That we tender to the railway and to its gentlemanly officials and employees sincere and hearty thanks for the most kindly and courteous consideration this day accorded to us, and be it further

Resolved, That we desire to express our appreciation of the recognized liberality with which the owners of the N-C-O. railway treat both their patrons and employees; that our knowledge of the undeveloped region to the north of Amedee tells us that an extension of the road would be an inestimable advantage to a large area of country of great natural resources, a source of profit to the owners of the road and a great benefit to our own town of Reno. The Resolutions were adopted unanimously, after which the glee club of the party sang:

"The shades of night are falling fast,
Amedee, Amedee!
But here we are at home at last,
Amedee, Amedee!
And ere we part, with wish and zest,
Hurrah for Fulton and for Gest,
Amedee, O, Amedee!"

Three cheers were given for the N-C-O. and its managers and the meeting adjourned.

NEVADA AT THE WORLD'S FAIR.

A Very Creditable Showing for the State—Commissioner James A. Yerington the Right Man in the Right Place.

Nevadans visiting Chicago during the exposition and viewing the magnificent exhibit made by the different countries of the world and those of the various states of the union, may well be proud of the part taken by Nevada. Although Nevada has no state building she has very creditable exhibits in five of the different buildings—mines and mining, agricultural, woman's, dairy and ethnology. For the success of Nevada's showing, too much credit cannot be given to Commissioner James A. Yerington. With but a month to collect his exhibit, and arriving on the grounds without a foot of space to the credit of Nevada, he went to work with an energy that compelled all obstacles to clear from his way, till now his untiring labors are rewarded by one of the neatest and most attractive showings to be found on the grounds. Nevada is to be congratulated on securing the services of Mr. Yerington. This exhibit, so largely due to his ability and energy, is the greatest advertisement Nevada has ever had.

IN THE MINES AND MINING BUILDING. It is to be regretted that Nevada waited so long before deciding to make an exhibit, that it was impossible to get space on the lower floor of this building, for not one in a hundred ever goes on the second floor to view the displays there.

The mineral exhibit is contained in twenty-five different cases and covers about 2,500 feet of space, a part of which is in the east and a part in the west galleries. In the east gallery is the state exhibit of minerals and a special exhibit from Eureka and White Pine counties. There are fine specimens of gold and silver ores from the Comstock and from every county in the state, as well as specimens of lead, nickel, cable, copper, iron and many other ores. In the west gallery may be seen a very fine display of soda, sulphur and borax from Lyon, Churchill and Esmeralda counties. This is one of the most interesting exhibits in the building. Here can be seen soda in crystals, carbonate and bi-carbonate of soda, soda ash, (manufactured) and natural soda, borate of lime, tincal (native), silica from the Aluminum Lustrate Co. of Esmeralda county salt in solution, dairy salt from solar evaporation, table salt, thus showing the above products consecutively from the marshes in their native condition to the product of the refinery; a very interesting display.

In the building stone department there may be seen splendid specimens of marble of various kinds; onyx, alabaster, sandstone and granite and other varieties of stone. This exhibit is presided over by J. D. Ernst of Nye county who takes great pleasure in showing visitors around and explaining to them that Nevada is the greatest mineral region in the world.

IN THE WOMAN'S BUILDING.

The exhibit in the woman's building is under the direction of Miss Annie Ware, a cousin of Mrs. M. D. Foley. It is a very pretty exhibit and compares favorably with those from states much larger in population. It consists of ladies' fancy work, hand painted china and many other varieties of work, but the author of this is not competent to do the ladies justice in their work.

IN THE ETHNOLOGY BUILDING.

The prehistoric footprints from the state prison quarry at Carson have attracted much attention from scientists from all over the world, and at the special request of the ethnology department and Professor Putnam, Mr. Yerington has arranged the footprints so that as nearly as possible there may be a reproduction of the floor of the prison quarry, as it existed at Carson before the footprints were removed. This exhibit occupies a space 40x19 feet.

IN THE DAIRY BUILDING.

Here may be found a very fine display of butter and cheese and it is a splendid advertisement for the dairy interest of the state. Already the first prize for butter has been given to Nevada, which is certainly gratifying when it is considered that dairying is a comparatively new industry in our state.

IN THE AGRICULTURAL BUILDING.

Nevada has never been considered an agricultural state and many there are who even believe the soil incapable of producing anything; but when they enter the Nevada pavilion and see what Nevada soil and Nevada climate really does produce, it is a revelation to them. Even then many doubt that Nevada has produced all that is shown there. Here were exhibited the first figs of '98, a week before California could produce her earliest, and yet California claims everything in the fruit line. Mr. Yerington says that visitors are constantly asking him how he bleached his sheaves of oats and wheat to make them look so white and silvery, and how he dyed the alfalfa to make it keep so green. He can hardly make them believe that it is only Nevada's soil and climate that makes them so. The Nevada pavilion occupies a portion of the space Idaho would have had, had not her exhibit been consumed by fire while in transit. The floor is 26x24 feet and is surrounded by wooden archways about 12 feet high and a railing about 2 feet high, around the outer edge of the floor. The entrances to the pavilion are from the north and over each entrance is the seal of the state.

The side arches are very prettily draped with orange colored Japanese silk, and bunting of the same color while the wood work is every where ornamented with rows and bunches of wheat and alfalfa, oats, sagebrush and other Nevada products. In the center of the pavilion is a long pyramid and this is covered with the exhibits of the different varieties of grain in little wooden boxes with glass tops, or in glass bottles; also potatoes, fruits and vegetables. Surmounting the pyramid is a large sheaf of oats which is the most striking thing of the kind in the entire building. This sheaf is the drawing card of the Nevada display for nearly every one that goes by the aisle that leads from the exhibit of Great Britain to that of Nevada and Utah, sees this beautiful sheaf. They go down to get a better look at it and see what else there is to be seen there. Around the side of the pavilion are little tables and on these are shown various fruits and vegetables. There are also small bales of alfalfa, timothy and wild hay and to the surprise even of Nevada people, a bale of cotton. Mr. Yerington's headquarters are in this pavilion. He has arranged it so that he can entertain his Nevada friends there when they visit the exposition. It must be mentioned also that much of this exhibit is from the agricultural experiment station and the eight panels on which are placed many varieties of grain and other products of the station, calls forth much favorable comment. Professor McDowell is deserving of no small share of the credit of this showing.

In the arranging of this and also the other exhibits, Mr. Yerington has been ably assisted by Mr. William Shirley of Dayton. As the season advances Mr. Yerington is desirous that the different agricultural products of the state be sent him. He wishes quality and not quantity and it is to be hoped that the people of Nevada will lend him all the aid they possibly can to make the exhibit as great a success as possible.

The appropriation by the state was very small and none of the many of Nevada's wealthy men have offered any financial assistance, as has been the case in many of the other western states, so it has been necessary to use the strictest economy.

But everything that is worthy of exhibition will be transported free of charge to the exhibitor.

Mr. Yerington is also distributing some literature concerning Nevada where it will do the most good. He has on exhibit maps of the state and blue prints, showing the water courses. Reports of the surveyor general, and weather bureau; maps in frames showing the temperature, etc.; speech by Hon. F. G. Newlands on irrigation and the Resources of California's edition for Nevada. The Illustrated Columbian, the great world's fair paper, has offered for $320 to give illustrations and three pages of printed matter concerning Nevada, and 2,000 copies of the paper for distribution. This is a good offer and it is to be hoped some of the public spirited men of the state will take steps toward raising the necessary money.

Those who have exhibits to send will direct them to James A. Yerington, world's fair commissioner, Nevada exhibit, section C, agricultural building, Jackson Park, Chicago, Ill.

READY TO PREACH.
YEARS OF STUDYING COVERED BY A THEOLOGICAL STUDENT.
A Minister's Training Usually Begins at His Mother's Knee, and It is Generally Twenty Years Later When He Graduates as a Full Fledged Preacher.
"You read the other day," said a prominent clergyman, "of the commencement exercises of Princeton theological seminary and of the graduation of 54 students. There was nothing about that to attract public attention, and very likely you did not get further into the article than the headlines. It meant 54 more young clergymen in the world, that was all, to most people. But to a man who has been through the training that has just ended for those boys it means a great deal more. I never read of a seminary commencement without feeling thankful that so many more students have pulled through safely.
"There is not much general knowledge of the labor required in the making of a clergyman. People could easily find out if they chose to inquire, but it is something they do not stop to think of. A clergyman is supposed to be able to answer any Biblical question that may be asked him, but where he gets all his technical knowledge nobody thinks of asking. He does not get it from reading the Scriptures, certainly. If you were to keep on reading Revelation till you understood it thoroughly, how old would you be?
"No, don't ask me whether I think I understand it now or we may drift away into a theological discussion which will be very unprofitable. What I started to say is something about the severe training that a man must go through before he can be graduated from a theological seminary and so become a clergyman. Severe? It is more than severe, and you see it results in thousands of physically weak preachers all over the world.
"The training of a clergyman really begins when he is a 6-year-old child at his mother's knee, for in nine cases out of ten the parents decide for him and decide early. But start with the boy when he has been graduated from a grammar school, because he will probably receive that much education in any case, whatever his business or profession is to be. He should then be in the neighborhood of 15 years old. He must begin a special preparation for college, a preparation that differs from the ordinary preparatory course of students not studying for the ministry. He must give at least four years to a special study of Greek and Latin, and at the same time lay a good foundation in ancient history, English composition and literature and higher arithmetic and algebra.
"The boy then, at 16, is ready to enter college and take the usual four years' classical course. In the first year he struggles with algebra, geometry, Latin, Greek, English history and English literature. In the second year the same, with the addition of comparative physiology, mechanics, analytical geometry, physics and rhetoric. In the third year he adds also chemistry, logic, German, political science and philosophy. The fourth collegiate year includes all of these studies and geology, consular and international law, French, ethics, astronomy and botany besides.
"He is now, on leaving college, ready to enter a theological seminary, ready indeed he proposes to go into the general theological seminary of the Protestant Episcopal church, in which case he is required to be able to read the Old Testament in Greek before he can enter. After his eight years of Greek he should be able to read the New Testament in the original, but this does not always follow. It often happens that a student who goes through his Greek lessons well enough in college finds on going into the seminary, where he must actually use the language, that he knows very little about it.
"The course in the theological seminary occupies three years—making 11 years' study in all after leaving the grammar school. The studies in the theological seminary are theology, church history, Old and New Testament languages, geography of Palestine, moral philosophy and sociology, with lectures on sermonizing and the duties of a minister and practical examples in preaching. Hebrew is one of the sticking points, for it is positively necessary for a theological student to read Hebrew almost as readily as he can English. It is a grind, a terrible grind, this long struggle with Greek and Hebrew.
"It is in the seminary, of course, that the student gets his theological training. Still each denomination has its favorite college. Theological students frequently occupy an unpleasant position throughout their collegiate and seminary courses. The churches help them when they are not able to help themselves, and they too often have the feeling of being in part charity students. All of the colleges make a reduction in the tuition of candidates for the ministry.
"After graduation from the theological seminary the student receives a professional certificate from the faculty, and he must then pass an examination before the class or presbytery in which jurisdiction he lies. Having passed this, he receives a license to preach. He then awaits a call (a most important matter, by the way—some clergymen are forever awaiting a call), and when he receives it he undergoes another examination by the class or presbytery in whose district he is to be placed. He is then ordained by the laying on of hands, and being installed in his new pulpit is a full fledged clergyman.
"Do you wonder that a man who has been through it all steps to think when he reads of another class leaving the seminary? The graduates are still boys, although they know more of the ways of the world than young freshmen. They still have many things to learn, and their real work is only beginning."—New York Sun.

Mrs. Sarah M. Black of Seneca, Mo., during the past two years has been afflicted with Neuralgia of the Head, Stomach and Womb, and writes: "My food did not seem to strengthen me at all and my appetite was very variable. My face was yellow, my head dull, and I had such pains in my left side. In the morning when I got up I would have a flow of mucus in the mouth, and a bad, bitter taste. Sometimes my breath became short, and I had such queer, tumbling, palpitating sensations around the heart. I ached all day under the shoulder blades, in the left side, and down the back of my limbs. It seemed to be worse in the wet, cold weather of Winter and Spring; and whenever the spells came on, my feet and hands would turn cold, and I could get no sleep at all. I tried everywhere, and got no relief before using August Flower. Then the change came. It has done me a wonderful deal of good during the time I have taken it and is working a complete cure."

THE LATEST THING IN PETITIONS.
The latest thing in petitions to parliament is the petition of a single household. A. B. C. Some street, Somewhere, entertains no objection to a bill which is before the house, and straightway he and the members of his family draw up a protest, sign it and forward it to the member of the division in which they reside for presentation to the house of commons. This may be a highly proper proceeding, but if it should become popular it will add largely to the duties of the honorable members.—London Tit-Bits.

Sticks Closer Than a Brother.
Bob Clamwhopper—About a week ago you sold me a porous plaster to get rid of a pain in my chest.
Druggist—Yes, I remember it very well. What can I do for you now?
Clamwhopper—Now I want something to get rid of the porous plaster.—Texas Skitings.

THE PLACE OF MEETING.
One of the Salvation Army recruits, sent to a certain inland town of California, was a young lady of fine social position and savoir faire. She was also very beautiful. Her arrival greatly agitated the chappies, who flocked to the street meetings. Finally one young blood made a bet that he would secure an appointment with the beauty for that same night, and approaching her late for the meeting he slipped a letter in her pocket. "And—ah—where shall I meet you by and by?" pursued the musher. "In heaven," I began, placidly answered the lassie as she glanced away from the golden daisy in her hand.—San Francisco Argonaut.

From Head to Foot
You feel the good that's done by Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It purifies the blood, and through the blood, it cleanses, invigorates and repairs the whole system.
In recovering from "La Grippe" or in convalescence from pneumonia, fevers, or other wasting diseases, nothing can equal it as an appetizing, restorative tonic to build up the needed flesh and strength. It rouses every organ into natural action, promotes all the bodily functions, and restores health and vigor.
For every disease that comes from a torpid liver or impure blood, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Bilelessness, and the most stubborn Skin, Scalp, or Scrofulous affections, the "Discovery" is the only remedy so certain in its effects that it can be guaranteed. If it doesn't benefit or cure, in every case, you have your money back.
For a perfect and permanent cure for Catarrh, take Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. It's proprietors offer $500 reward for an incurable case of Catarrh.
